NOTICES & NEWS

An update from Skier Andrea Dziewoir...

Hope everyone had a great holiday season and enjoyed celebrating the new year! I am very excited about the new year, 2009, the year before the Paralympic Games in Vancouver. For me this is the qualifying year, if I want to make it to the 2010 Games I will need to that happen in this ski season. According to the unofficial draft submitted by Alpine Canada I will need to make a minimum of two 8th place finishes on the World Cup circuit this year, and I plan to do that and more!

In December I reinforced the points I needed to race the World Cup with two third place finishes (GS and Super-G) and one fourth in the North American series races that were held in Colorado. Those results, combined with some results from last season allow me to enter World Cup races in every discipline this season. On January 7th I will leave to race in Spain and Italy in World Cups. Thank you all for your support and I will keep you posted about how my season unfolds. - Andrea :)
